

West Virginia is Out of Step

And Out of Time

Today, a bright future seems pretty dim. Our laws need to be revised, particularly in the areas of insurance and civil justice, to make our state competitive with the rest of the country...to enable us to attract new jobs and new investments.

Tradition runs deep in West Virginia. When it comes to business legislation and laws, traditional thinking has put us out of step with the rest of the country.

It's up to all of us – legislators, business, civic leaders, citizens – to make this happen. And it needs to happen now.
